

WILSON ISSUES HIS MESSAGE

WOODROW WILSON'S DEMAND FOR TARIFF REVISION

There should be immediate tariff revision, and it should be downward, unhesitatingly and steadily downward. It should begin with the schedules which have been most obviously used to kill competition and to raise prices in the United States, arbitrarily and without regard to the prices pertaining elsewhere in the markets of the world, and it should, before it is finished or interrupted, be extended to every item in every schedule which affords any opportunity for monopoly, for special advantage to limited groups of beneficiaries, or for subsidized control of any kind in the markets or the enterprises of the country, until special favors of every sort shall have been absolutely withdrawn and every part of our laws of taxation shall have been transformed from a system of governmental patronage into a system of just and reasonable charges which shall fall where they will create the least burden.

—From Governor Wilson's speech at Seagirt today, accepting the Democratic presidential nomination.

REGRESS ON HITCH OVER PLATFORM

CONVENTION HALL, CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Though they plodded through a drizzling rain to the Coliseum today, the National Progressive delegates were as enthusiastic as ever when they gathered for the final session to officially elect Theodore Roosevelt for the new third party presidential candidate. That there has been an element of hitch, however, in the Progressive platform was indicated at 11:15 o'clock today, when the resolutions committee sent a message from the Coliseum Hotel to Chairman Brewster at the Coliseum asking that the convention be adjourned for one hour.

Rain Turns Early Crowds.

The rain thinned out the early crowds that had on other days awaited the opening of the doors, but the delegates were not deterred. There was an informal tea party on the floor of the convention, the visitors and delegates mingling for half an hour.

A little after 10:30 the California delegation with a hand band marched in. The band played the "Battle Cry of Freedom," marched through the entrance and then the delegates.

The audience suddenly withdrew and swung into the "Marching of the Stars," I thought.

Hereby had the noise died down when the Illinois delegation with its own band, "Marching the Battle Cry of Freedom," marched through the entrance. At the head was a standard on the top of which was an old flag.

Sign Yells It's Funk's Hat.

It was a sign that explained it was "Funk's hat." That is the one which the enthusiastic candidate for Governor of Illinois added into the ring yesterday during the demonstration for the big name. The band marched into the room, the delegates joining in the songs that were played.

The regular band in its high gallery at the north end of the hall began over the railing and watched. The audience politely applauded the efforts of their brother musicians.

The galleries filled very slowly in spite of the noise and confusion inside the hall. The general special box was only partially filled while within a quarter of an hour of the time for calling the meeting to order.

2 MEN WHO CHASED ALLEGED MILK THEIF, WHO WAS SHOT DEAD

Harry Jerome (top picture) was helping Benjamin Twaddle (bottom picture) chase a man they say had stolen milk from Twaddle. Jerome, it is alleged, shot and killed the thief after a long chase and after the man had reached for his hip pocket.

LYDD OSBOURNE DYING.
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7.—Lloyd Osbourne, the author, stepson of Robert Louis Stevenson, is dying at Santa Barbara, according to address received here.

KILLS MAN IN CHASING MILK THEIF

Harry Jerome, driver of a milk wagon for the Boston Milk Farm in Marlborough, shot and fatally killed Giuseppe Parilli, early today, on the State road in Swampscott. The man, it is claimed, had stolen two quarts, valued at twenty cents, from Benjamin Twaddle of the Hood Milk Company.

Jerome, who was helping Twaddle chase the man, claims he did not intend to shoot and that he did not know that the revolver was not ready to shoot.

Jerome was taken into custody by the Swampscott police and was arraigned in the State Superior Court today on the charge of murder in the first degree. He was held without bail until tomorrow.

Parilli lived at No. 1 Forest avenue, Swampscott. He leaves a widow and five children in Italy. Neighbors identified his body.

The shooting took place shortly after 4 o'clock this morning. Jerome, while driving with an Italian woman, Swampscott, saw two men running across the Swampscott playground. The man in front and two milk bottles.

He was being chased by another man, whom Jerome recognized as Benjamin Twaddle, another milk wagon driver. Jerome also a special police officer of Jerome.

Twaddle shouted that the fleeing man had stolen two bottles from him. Jerome joined in the chase. He left his team in charge of Louis Peabody, seafarer, of Marlborough, who was accompanying him.

Draws Revolver After Chase.

They chased the men across the playground and onto the State road. Just before they reached the State road, the man turned suddenly and threw one of the milk bottles at Twaddle, but did not hit him. He then ran under the Boston & Maine Railroad bridge.

Twaddle was armed with a revolver, fired a shot in the air when near the bridge. The man continued to run, going toward Northwold. When about a half-mile from the starting point, Twaddle and Jerome had closed in to within about a dozen yards of him. The man turned and threw the second milk bottle at Jerome, missing again.

TO TAKE ALL HORSFALL MAY LOSE LICENSE

The first batch of the striking Elevated train were taken back to work today by the Massachusetts Highway Commission. The commission today that it has begun an investigation of the second fatality caused by the death auto of James H. Horsfall, a wealthy citizen of Lowell, in driving a car.

That part the owner may have had in the tragedy.

The commission's license has already been suspended pending the inquiry and the commission desires to ascertain whether the facts warrant depriving Horsfall of his car license.

Horsfall has already been debarred by the commission from running a car himself, his operating license having been revoked after he killed an aged woman in Wilmington a year ago.

Colonel William D. Sobber, chairman of the Highway Commission said today: "The commission will conduct an investigation into the fatality caused by Mr. Horsfall's car. The commission's license has already been suspended. Mr. Horsfall lost his operating license about a year ago as a result of the death of a woman and was ordered to undergo a classmate."

DEMOCRATS' CHOICE ANNOUNCES STAND IN ACCEPTANCE SPEECH

SEAGIRT, N. J., Aug. 7.—Declaring that the country has reached a critical point in its political and moral development, Governor Woodrow Wilson, in a speech today accepting the Democratic nomination for President, outlined the policies he would pursue in correcting evils if he is chosen the nation's Chief Executive in the Fall.

An immediate downward revision of the tariff, amendments to the Sherman anti-trust law and more adequate legislation, both civil and criminal, looking to the control of monopolies; legislation to prevent the interlocking of directorates of big corporations that tends to place the finances of the country under the control of a few men; legislation that will safeguard the lives and improve the physical and moral conditions of the working people; a close inspection of our banking and currency laws as to the varied uses to which our people must put them; conservation of our natural resources; development of our merchant marine and our waterways; presidential primaries and the direct election of United States senators, were some of the important recommendations the Governor advocated. No reference was made to the battleship program, nor the initiative and referendum.

HIGH COST DUE TO TARIFF.

Governor Wilson holds the high tariff responsible for the high cost of living and the rapid growth of monopolies, and denounced the Payne-Aldrich tariff act "as the most conspicuous example ever afforded the country of the special favors and monopolistic advantages which the leaders of the Republican party have so often shown themselves willing to extend to those to whom they looked for campaign contributions."

The Governor's speech was entirely free from personalities, but toward the end he made a veiled thrust at Colonel Roosevelt and the present conditions in the Republican party, when he said:

"A presidential campaign may easily degenerate into a mere personal contest and so lose its real dignity and significance. There is no indispensable man. The government will not collapse and go to pieces if any one of the gentlemen who are now seeking to be entrusted with its guidance should be left at home. Men are but instruments. We are so important as the cause we represent, and in order to be important must really represent a cause."

Ollie James' Speech.

Governor Wilson was officially notified of his election by United States Senator Ollie James of Kentucky, the permanent chairman of the Baltimore convention.

Mr. James' speech was a review of political conditions of today. He referred to the fact that there were no fraud charges at the Baltimore convention and no "disgraced members of the party."

Representative James predicted the Democratic party would be triumphant, and criticized the Republicans for "allying themselves with the trust." He told Governor Wilson that his rivals for the nomination took their defeat like "seasoned soldiers," and continued:

"The Democratic party believes that you possess in splendid fashion those qualities which are essential to constructive government, inventive intellect and real ideas, with which so transcendently those of the great underdog of the past. For which your party has been distinguished. As the Democracy has been distinguished by its most exalted confidence by naming you for the highest office in the gift of your fellow-citizens, they have done so with an abiding confidence that your service to all the people is striving for equal rights for the great underdog of the past and justly appropriating their burden, will meet in full and rounded measure the hopes and expectations."

The principles for which our party fought and for which we felt in the last campaign have been a source of life and conscience, as touched the popular heart, have become so strong with the masses of our people, that they have drawn to the support of the Democratic party practically all unhealthful America, and have created into irreconcilable factions the little into victorious Republican party, which, in the past, triumphed by opposing them.

The Republican party has taught the masses that it only bars and never these nations are but a signal to place a rising market, to drive higher the value of the stocks they own, to increase the prices of articles they sell, and to grant greater dividends to those who are interested in them. The people call for a President, and they believe they have found in you one who not alone will not protect the privilege against those men who defy the laws, who oppress the people, who drive men, women and children to desperation by reason of hunger; who deny the necessities of life; who have their monopolistic prices, and who will demand that the stripes of the robe shall be placed upon them, and who will give a vigorous and genuine Democratic people's rule—endure the sense of the criminal lives against satisfaction of great wealth.

The Democratic party is the friend of honest business, to be big or little, and it is trying to make it impossible for criminal interests to destroy legitimate business and oppress the people.

The call text of Governor Wilson's speech will be found on pages 4, 5 and 6.

STRIKING SENTENCES FROM WILSON'S ACCEPTANCE SPEECH

We stand in the presence of an awakened nation, impatient of partisan make-beliefs.

The forces of the nation are asserting themselves against every form of special privilege and private control.

The tariff question is dealt with in our time, has not been business. It has been politics.

There should be an immediate revision, and it should be downward.

The tariff was once a bulwark; now it is a dam.

The high cost of living is arranged by private understanding.

Men of the same interest have drawn together, have united their enterprises and have formed trusts; and trusts can control prices.

The trusts do not belong to the period of infant industries. They belong to a very recent and very sophisticated age, when men know what they wanted and how to get it by the favor of the government.

The next chapter will set us free again. It will be a chapter of readjustment, not of pain and rough destruction.

What we are seeking is not destruction of any kind, nor the disruption of any sound or honest thing, but merely the right of the citizen and of the common advantage.

The working people of America are the backbone of the nation. There can be nothing wholesome unless their life is wholesome; there can be no contentment unless they are contented.

In the reform of our banking and currency laws, we ought to consider very many persons besides the bankers. No man's banker's plan will meet the requirements. It should be a merchants' and farmers' plan as well.

We must build and buy ships in competition with the world.

ing bigger things than they have ever before achieved, they are awaiting away what is no righteous in order to vindicate once more the essential right of life; and what is very serious for us, they are looking to us for guidance, disinterested guidance, at once honest and fearless.

WHAT PLATFORM MEANS

At such a time, and in the presence of such circumstances, what is the meaning of our platform, and what is our responsibility under it? What are our duties? The platform is meant to show that we know what the Nation is thinking about, what it is most concerned about, what it wishes corrected, and what it desires to see accomplished. It is a platform of action, and it is a platform of long future. But for us it is a very definite program. It is not about to ask the people of the United States to adopt our platform; we are about to ask them to entrust us with office and power, and the guidance of their affairs. They will wish to know what sort of men we are and of what definite purpose; what program of action, and of policy we intend to give to the general terms of our platform, and which the convention at Baltimore put forth, should we be elected.

The platform is not a program. A program must consist of measures, administrative acts, and acts of legislation. The proof of the pudding is the eating thereof. How do we intend to make it edible and digestible? From this time on we shall be under interrogation. How do we expect to handle each of the great matters that must be taken up by the next Congress and the next administration?

What is there to do? It is hard to aim the great task up, but we have many things to do. There are THREE GREAT THINGS TO DO. ONE IS TO SET UP THE RULE OF JUSTICE AND OF RIGHT IN CIVIL MATTERS AS THE BASIS OF THE REGULATION OF THE TRUSTS AND THE PREVENTION OF MONOPOLY. THE ADAPTATION OF OUR BANKING AND CURRENCY LAWS TO THE NEEDS OF THE PEOPLE. OUR PEOPLE MUST PUT THEM. THE TREATMENT OF THOSE WHO DO THE DAILY LABOR IN OUR FACTORIES AND SHOPS. AND WE OUGHT OUT ALL OUR GREAT INDUSTRIAL AND COMMERCIAL UNDERTAKINGS AND THE POLITICAL LIFE OF THE PEOPLE.

Our task now is to effect a great readjustment and get the forces of the whole people once more into play. We need no revolution; we need no excited change; we need only a new point of view and a new method and spirit of counsel.

We are servants of the people, the whole people. The Nation has been unnecessarily, unreasonably and unrighteously divided by war within itself. Interest has clashed with interest when there were common principles of right and of fair dealing which might and should have bound them all together as equals, but as partners. As the servants of all, we are bound to undertake the great duty of accommodation and adjustment.

THE SPIRIT NECESSARY

We cannot undertake it except in a spirit which some find it hard to understand. Some people only smile when you speak of yourself as a servant of the people; it seems to them like affectation or mere modesty. They ask what the untidying crowd knows or comprehends of great complicated matters of government. They shrug their shoulders and lift their eyebrows when you speak of the Nation.

They do not, or will not, comprehend the solemn thing that is in your thought. You know as

PLE OF THE PHILIPPINES, POL WHOM WE HOLD GOVERNMENTAL POWER IN TRUST, FOR THEIR SERVICE, NOW WE OWN.

THE ADDITIONAL DUTY

THE OTHER THIS ADDITIONAL DUTY IS THE GREAT TASK OF PROTECTING OUR PEOPLE AND OUR RESOURCES AND OF KEEPING OPEN TO THE WHOLE PEOPLE THE DOOR OF OPPORTUNITY THROUGH WHICH THEY MUST GENERATE BY GENERATION, PASS IF THEY ARE TO MAKE COME QUEST OF THEIR FORTUNES IN HEALTH, IN FREEDOM, IN PEACE, AND IN CONTENTMENT. IT WOULD CORRECTED, AND WHAT IT DESIRES TO SEE ACCOMPLISHED, IT IS A PLATFORM OF ACTION, AND IT IS A PLATFORM OF LONG FUTURE. BUT FOR US IT IS A VERY DEFINITE PROGRAM. IT IS NOT ABOUT TO ASK THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES TO ADOPT OUR PLATFORM; WE ARE ABOUT TO ASK THEM TO ENTRUST US WITH OFFICE AND POWER, AND THE GUIDANCE OF THEIR AFFAIRS. THEY WILL WISH TO KNOW WHAT SORT OF MEN WE ARE AND OF WHAT DEFINITE PURPOSE; WHAT PROGRAM OF ACTION, AND OF POLICY WE INTEND TO GIVE TO THE GENERAL TERMS OF OUR PLATFORM, AND WHICH THE CONVENTION AT BALTIMORE PUT FORTH, SHOULD WE BE ELECTED.

These are all great matters upon which everybody should be heard. We have got into trouble in recent years chiefly because these large things, which ought to have been handled by taking counsel with as large a number of persons as possible, because they touched every interest and the life of every class and region, have in fact been too often handled in private conference. They have been settled by very small, and often deliberately exclusive, groups of men who undertook to speak for the whole Nation, or, rather, for themselves in the terms of the whole Nation. Very honestly it may be, but very ignorantly sometimes, and very short-sightedly, too—a poor substitute for genuine common counsel. No group, no matter economic or political, can speak for a people. They have neither the point of view nor the knowledge. Our difficulty is not that wicked and designing men have plotted and conspired that our common affairs have been determined upon too narrow a basis, and by too private a committee.

RUSSELL TESTIFIES FRESNO DAN KNEW 'FAMILY SECRET' HOME WORK

SAYS HE WOULDN'T SEE DAKOTA DAN BECAUSE HE SENT HIS LAWYER FIRST.

By CLEMENT L. POLLOCK

William C. Russell, the silent man in gray and straw, who is the witness stand today in the East Cambridge hearing, has given three reasons why he decided that Dakota Dan was not his brother.

First—He thought his brother was dead so long that he considered the claimant a fraud when he first heard of him.

Second—If he were his brother he didn't think he would make his first appearance with a lawyer.

Third—Fortunate B. Almy prohibited him against the Dakotas by describing him as of large build.

Fourth—He found in general resemblance in the ranchman's writing to that of his brother.

Fifth—He found no general resemblance in the ranchman's appearance to that of his brother.

Here, in opinionated form, is an explanation by the elder Russell as to why he accepted Fresno Dan as his brother.

FIRST—On general appearance as to size, although the facial lines are deeper.

Second—His eyes not brown or hazel as they were remembered, but time may have changed them.

Third—His writing is similar to that of Daniel Blake Russell except that he makes his capital letters differently.

Fourth—Although Fresno Dan does not recall the name of his mother's name, William does not consider that strange.

Fifth—While the two men do not talk in fact, without speech to each other—that was their attitude when they were together.

Greatly interested in the story of the fight for half the Russell estate, as it is told by the elder brother in response to questions by William B. Scharton, Dakota Dan's attorney, another large crowd, mostly women, thronged the courtroom when today's session began.

William Russell on Stand.

Mr. Scharton began today by asking Mr. Russell about his association with Mr. Almy.

"Up to 1900," asked Scharton, "was it a fact that you looked after him?"

"No."

"Did you leave home after 1908?"

"Yes."

"Did you go to Boston?"

"Yes."

"How many times? Ten?"

"More than a hundred."

"Wasn't your hair longer in 1908?"

"No, it was cut."

"Wasn't your beard longer?"

"No, it was shaved."

"It may have been a shade of an inch longer?"

"No, it was the same."

"Wasn't it a fact that you were 'groomed up' before Dakota Dan appeared?"

"No, it is not."

"Have you made a will?"

"No."

Mr. Russell said that he had not talked with Fresno Dan about the disposition of the Russell estate.

William C. Russell, who has been at the trial since it started, objected to Scharton's statement that Fresno Dan had waived his right to his share of the Russell estate.

"I can't recognize you in this case," said Master Perry, "as Fresno Dan has no standing in court."

Mr. Odlin said he was an attorney of record before the Probate Court and if he wasn't still an attorney of record he would be made one.

Mr. Perry said he had no power to accept Mr. Odlin as an attorney in the case.

Scharton resumed his cross-examination of William C. Russell.

"Did you ever discuss with Fresno Dan the disposition of the estate?"

"I did not, but I overheard him talking about it with the people in the house."

"What people?"

"As I alleged to answer that?" Mr. Russell asked Mr. Perry.

"Yes," replied Mr. Perry.

"Lawyers Get All the Money."

"He talked with his aunt, Hannah Lynde, and the maid, Helene Kersing."

"What did he say?"

"He complained that the lawyers were getting all the money."

"Did Fresno Dan ever say how much he expected to get or when he expected it?"

Mr. Russell said that his father's wish was that Dakota Dan Russell should be found if he were alive.

The elder Dan said he was first learned of a will in July before the January in which he died.

He was not allowed to tell what it said, but he was allowed to tell what it said.

"Did it say anything about the will?"

"No, it said nothing about the will."

"Did it say anything about the will?"

"No, it said nothing about the will."

"Did it say anything about the will?"

"No, it said nothing about the will."

"Why was Green with you?"

"As a bodyguard."

"Why did you have a bodyguard?"

"I don't know."

"Wasn't it a fact that you were 'groomed up' before Dakota Dan appeared?"

"No, it is not."

"Have you made a will?"

"No."

Mr. Russell said that he had not talked with Fresno Dan about the disposition of the Russell estate.

William C. Russell, who has been at the trial since it started, objected to Scharton's statement that Fresno Dan had waived his right to his share of the Russell estate.

"I can't recognize you in this case," said Master Perry, "as Fresno Dan has no standing in court."

Mr. Odlin said he was an attorney of record before the Probate Court and if he wasn't still an attorney of record he would be made one.

Mr. Perry said he had no power to accept Mr. Odlin as an attorney in the case.

Scharton resumed his cross-examination of William C. Russell.

"Did you ever discuss with Fresno Dan the disposition of the estate?"

"I did not, but I overheard him talking about it with the people in the house."

"What people?"

"As I alleged to answer that?" Mr. Russell asked Mr. Perry.

"Yes," replied Mr. Perry.

"Lawyers Get All the Money."

"He talked with his aunt, Hannah Lynde, and the maid, Helene Kersing."

"What did he say?"

"He complained that the lawyers were getting all the money."

"Did Fresno Dan ever say how much he expected to get or when he expected it?"

Mr. Russell said that his father's wish was that Dakota Dan Russell should be found if he were alive.

The elder Dan said he was first learned of a will in July before the January in which he died.

He was not allowed to tell what it said, but he was allowed to tell what it said.

asked Scharton bluntly.

"No," replied Mr. Russell shortly.

Talked to Sarah Almy.

Mr. Russell testified that he talked to Sarah Almy about Dakota Dan. She said she had decided opinions about Dakota Dan.

"Didn't she have an influence on you?"

"Not as to his identity."

"Did she tell you Dakota Dan called at the house to see you?"

"I know he called, but she was away, so he could not have seen her."

Dakota Dan went to the Russell home on April 27, 1909. The maid told Mr. Russell about the call. Miss Almy was at the home of her brother in Rochester at the time, Mr. Russell said.

"When did you leave the house that day?"

"About 1 o'clock."

"Did you know he was about to call?"

"His lawyer practically told me so."

"Did you leave the house to avoid Dakota Dan?"

"I don't like to answer that by 'yes' or 'no,'" said Mr. Russell.

"Answer, as you like," said Master Perry.

"I did not want to see Dakota Dan and his lawyer unless I had a witness on my side."

"Where did you leave the house that day?"

"I don't know that he called any name. He spoke in a general way."

"Didn't he name any names of persons liable to inflict violence on you?"

"Threats Hinted At."

"No."

"Were you ever threatened by anyone connected with Dakota Dan's side of the case?"

"Not so I would know who did it."

This answer implied that the elder Russell was threatened anonymously, although Scharton did not press the line of inquiry.

"Were you consulted by Mr. Almy when the furniture agency was employed?"

"I don't know that Mr. Almy had anything to say about it to me."

"Were't large sums of money expended in the case?" asked Scharton.

This was objected to, and Master Perry excluded it. It was brought out that Mr. Russell while the trial was on and while he was in the custody of Green, spent his time in hotels at Providence, New Haven and Hartford. He received letters during his absence from Almy, Mr. Russell said.

Mr. Russell objected to Mr. Scharton asking he was "in hiding."

"Did you know Dakota Dan wanted you to get a witness while you were in seclusion?"

"Yes."

"Were you not trying to elude the service of a summons?"

"Why?"

"I did not want to adjudge the Dakota man with my testimony."

"Did Mr. Almy suggest the reason for your retirement?"

"I don't think it was Mr. Almy, but I am not sure enough to swear."

"You said you were prejudiced against Dakota Dan before you saw him?"

"Yes."

"You said Mr. Almy influenced you against Dakota Dan?"

"What he said may have influenced me."

RED SOX AND NAPS PLAYERS' FINAL

PILGRIMS MEET REDS IN THIRD GAME OF SERIES

TWO "WHITE HOPES" ARE ELIMINATED IN ONE BOUT "PORKY" GIVEN DECISION OVER BARRY

STEVE YERKES' long base hit to left, with two out and "three" of men on the Red Sox back their six-game lead over Washington today.

Steve had two chances to be a hero in the third Cleveland game, and connected the second time. The score was three even in the ninth, with two on, but Steve failed. The eighth, he had his second opportunity and that was when he made good. And the Sox needed the two run-

THAT Sox would have won away off, but the "Naps" caught Joe Wood for five hits in the sixth inning, tying up the game. The three runs they made then were all they ever made. The struggle went along until the eighth, when Yerkès pushed his way into the spotlight.

In the eleventh inning, Wagner walked, Henriksen, hitting for Cady, struck out, but runners advanced on a wild pitch. Wood fanned and Hooper was purposely passed, filling the bases. That gave Yerkès his chance, with the result aforesaid.

LAJOIE scored in Cleveland's half of the final series, but with a man on third, only one out and a tie or defeat. Cleveland's Joe Wood "broke his head" off and struck out two pinch hitters. Joe Wood has now won 21 and lost 4 games this season.

ANYWAY, the White Sox beat the Senators, finally amounting out at the top end of a 2 to 1 score. To the delight, not to say amazement, of Boston "fans," the Senators failed to finish with their usual rally. "Doc" White, batting to the finish, and Washington made only five hits in the game. Both the Senators and White Sox played errorless baseball, and the White Sox made one less error than the Senators, hustling lunch that are barking at the heels of the Red Sox.

BOSTON "fans" are like all the rest. They're as fickle as an unshapely, "canted" miss. A week before the Red Sox went away the "good boys" were eight games in front of Washington. It had taken a long string of newspaper accounts to excite the "fans," but they were just learning to yield to the temptation to grow enthusiastic when the Sox fell into the slump of the last week at home. Then they went West and lost four games out of the first ten, leaving the Senators climb up to within five games of them, whereupon the "fans" began to play good baseball and the "fans" started to tell how good the "Pirates" would have been, if it were, concerning the Red Sox, "I told you so."

THEY have been justified in becoming so nervous in the future. Yesterday they played another string game of baseball.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 7.—The Red Sox and Naps mix in their final game of the series today. Manager Stahl is anxious to take three out of four, so will send "Doc" White to the mound.

A free debate by Turner Kean gave the Red Sox a lease on life in the sixth inning yesterday, while a spectacular throw by Ted Spenser saved the day for the league leaders in the eighth. They won out in the eleventh, 5 to 4.

Joe Wood didn't imply the Naps to any great extent. They certainly got to him in the sixth, and not only did the count of three all but practically every run present thought that the home boys were entitled to the working margin of one run.

Ryan opened the sixth with a lucky single through Wagner. Turner followed with a single to right. Jackson then hit out a lot to Wood, while one of the Red Sox tried to trip Turner off second and three to create field, both runners advancing. With the inning pulled in, the Sox ended the game with a double to left and a hit to left.

Umpires Disagree. Pitching went on a tie to Hooper. Probably everybody in the park with the exception of Ryan would have said that the Sox were on the back, when Hooper struck the ball. Art Sprinkel for the home, while the Sox were on the back, the Sox and Hooper's throw. He then went to third and landed the ball.

Sherrill's throw, which the umpires of the Boston players at the first, then the third before the Sox were on the back, but when Ryan was on the back of the Sox, he was on the back of the Sox, they were running back and forth, the Sox were on the back of the Sox.

With the eighth inning a new scene opened. The Sox were on the back of the Sox, the Sox were on the back of the Sox, the Sox were on the back of the Sox.

Speaker Saves Game. Only a perfect throw could nip him down to the plate, and speaker had just such a throw up his sleeve. Only looked Jackson off the plate and touched him.

After Lewis and Gardner, Stahl's decision and Wagner's single gave the Sox a pair of runs in the fourth. Stahl counted in the sixth on his shut out, and the Sox were on the back of the Sox.

In the eleventh inning, a single which the Sox were on the back of the Sox, the Sox were on the back of the Sox, the Sox were on the back of the Sox.

King Cole Suspended. "King" Cole, the Pittsburgh pitcher, was suspended for a week for a violation of the rules of the National League.

Terrible 'Spitball' GERM. PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—Manager Dahlen of the Phillies declared that "spitball" is responsible for the attack of hemorrhoids from which Pitcher Ad Bronson is suffering. Of the present, he is a serious he means to make application to President Taft for a writ of habeas corpus to permit him to pitch as he pleases to use a spitball.

Still Going Down. BALTIMORE, Aug. 7.—Pitchers "Doc" Martin and Dixie Walker have been sold by the Baltimore International League Club of the New York State League.

Two "White Hopes" Are Eliminated in One Bout

"Porky" Given Decision Over Barry

The men did begin as though they were really going to start something. But it was only for a minute. When they had finished the first round the crowd got after them.

From the first to the eleventh round, Barry and Barry fought each other around the ring. But few still looks were made.

Matth Murphy, called the fighters apart in the third round and told them that they would have to fight or leave the ring. For while it looked as though Barry had made good, but just when the "fans" were beginning to praise Barry, Barry and Barry started looking again.

The real live bout of the evening brought together Joe Harrow of East Boston and Al Brady of Chelsea. It was Brady's first professional bout, and he certainly made good by getting the decision over the hard-hitting East Boston boy, in six rounds.

Gilbert Galtier put away Billy Allen, a New York boy, in two rounds, in the second round.

The opening bout of the evening, between Tommy Murphy and "Porky" Murphy, went to the latter by a knockout in the fifth round. The two five-round bouts, which were the only ones of the kind, were the only ones of the kind.

When the two big boys, would be "white hopes" entered the ring, looking in good condition, the "fans" set back as to what to expect to see a real fight.

When the George Fearn played his first game in Cleveland he touched Bob Hughes for a slapper in the fourth in Washington he preceded a double off Tom Higgins, and appearing in a Philadelphia ball game for the first time, he collected two hits of "Chief" Bender.

In Cobby's first games in Boston and New York he went hitless. Cy Young and Jack Chatham being the only two who hit him. When Cobby made seven consecutive hits in the double-header played in Philadelphia, he was on the back of the Sox, the Sox were on the back of the Sox, the Sox were on the back of the Sox.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—The first round between Frank Langhorne and Johnny Williams at the Plymouth Park, Norristown, came to an abrupt conclusion in the sixth, when Langhorne fell to the mat in a heap, claiming that Williams had hit him. Langhorne had to be sustained by his corner. Williams started after the mat that the punch which ended the battle was sustained.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—Clyde Williams of Kansas City proved no match for Eddie Palmer of the Spring Garden A. C. The referee, intervening in the fifth round when it was apparent to all that Williams was unable to continue, stopped the fight.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—A slug match between Charlie Brown and the better of Joe Sullivan in a six-round bout at the Standard Theatre here.

The Boston Red Sox have demonstrated their right to be in first place in the American League race.

Every man on the Boston team is hitting the ball good and hard, and Speaker and Stahl are in the slugging class.

Philadelphia fans are getting tired of having the championship already, and will stir up the Boston fans a lot to have the honor again, after being out of it for almost a decade.
